

“Low Incidence” Areas with Estimated or Reported Tuberculosis Incidence, 2015

“Low Incidence” areas are defined as areas with reported or estimated incidence of <20 cases per 100,000 population.

Albania	Finland	Saint Kitts and Nevis
American Samoa	France	Saint Lucia
Andorra	French Polynesia	Saint Vincent and the Grenadines
Antigua and Barbuda	Germany	Samoa
Aruba	Greece	San Marino
Australia	Grenada	Saudi Arabia
Austria	Hungary	Seychelles
Bahamas	Iceland	Sint Maarten (Dutch part)
Bahrain	Iran (Islamic Republic of)	Slovakia
Barbados	Ireland	Slovenia
Belgium	Israel	Spain
Bermuda	Italy	Sweden
Bonaire, Saint Eustatius and Saba	Jamaica	Switzerland
British Virgin Islands	Japan	The Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia
Canada	Jordan	Tokelau
Cayman Islands	Lebanon	Tonga
Chile	Luxembourg	Trinidad and Tobago
Cook Islands	Malta	Turkey
Costa Rica	Monaco	Turks and Caicos Islands
Croatia	Montserrat	United Arab Emirates
Cuba	Netherlands	United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland
Curacao	New Zealand	United States of America
Cyprus	Niue	US Virgin Islands
Czechia	Norway	Wallis and Futuna Islands
Denmark	Oman	West Bank and Gaza Strip
Egypt	Poland
Estonia	Puerto Rico

Source: World Health Organization Global Health Observatory, Tuberculosis Incidence 2015.